

to recover $10,000 damages for personal injuries sustained by plaintiff in falling from the platform of a car in July last, whereby he sustained severe injuries to his leg and body. He avers that he was thrown from the platform by reason of the cars running off the track.

YOUNG VAGABONDS.—The harbor police this morning grabbed up five boys about ten years of age who have been loafing about the wharves, stealing junk, iron, and any portable thing which came in their way. One of them had a large bunch of keys of every size and variety, as complete a set as ever formed the stock in trade of the most skilful cracksman. The boys will probably be sent to the Industrial School.

PETTY THIEF.—The item regarding stolen property recovered by officer Fuller, published by us last evening, led to the identification of a pair of boots, which in turn led to the conviction of James Burns, alias Quinn, for petit larceny this morning. He will be sentenced to morrow. A number of other articles taken from him await identification.

INSANE.—Joan Silks, a native of Maine, aged 32 years, was sent to Stockton
